With these transfer-patterns and materials, you may decorate prettily, without any difficulty. Easy and pleasing when done. No special skill, or course of training, necessary. You can pick up this art yourself, if not already applying it to beautify your dainty things

No. C3317

Before tinting with textile-paints, tack material securely on a flat surface over a piece of white blotting-paper, which will serve to take up any excess paint. When tinting is done, and thoroughly dry, press the painted portions with a hot iron at least twice between damp—not wet—cloths, to set the color. Once more tack the fabric over blotting-paper for cone-work. This method consists of covering the outlines of a design with a tube-paste which is applied with a waxed-paper cone and which while still moist is sprinkled thickly with gold or silver metal powder. The paste, in drying, remains flexuous, and edges need no other finish, because the threads of fabric are firmly held when the article is cut out
