Riego [de la Branchardiere, Eléanor]. Crochet Book [06] 6th Series, containing D'Oyleys and Anti-Macassars. [c.1850]. London: Simpkin, Marshall, and Co., 20th printing, 1877, 44 pgs. Scans donated and photo edited by Judith Combs mar2006. Six doilies and three antimacassar or coverlet patterns, including suggestions for vibrant color combinations. Note that the illustrations for D'Oyley No. 1 and 3 are swapped, and page numbering is off.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

The Six D'Oyleys in this Book, forming a Set, should be made with the same Needle and Cotton, and the size of them may be varied as follows:-

1st Size – 7 ½ inches in diameter – Use Walter Evans and Co.'s Boar's-Head Crochet Cotton No. 4, and Walker's Uncotopic Penelope Needle No. 2 (steel crochet hook sz 6).

2nd Size – 3 ½ inches in diameter - Boar's-Head Crochet Cotton No. 8, and Needle No. 2 ½ (steel crochet hook sz 7).

3rd Size – 5 inches in diameter - Boar's-Head Crochet Cotton No. 12, and Needle No. 3 (steel crochet hook sz 8).

The Slip Stitches (Slst) at the end of the rounds in the following directions are to be worked through both sides of the stitches of the preceding round. This is necessary to be observed, as it makes the work neater and prevents the beginning and ends of the Pattern from being perceived.

~~Also, when directed – "To turn back and work 3 or more Slst on the last stitches of the round," it is done to bring the thread to the centre of the chain stitches, its proper place to commence the next round.~~

Substitute ch3, dc into the beg ch 1 for the end of round 3 and ignore the sk4 on the beg of round 4.
